WALTON GOES TO TRIAL ON CHARGES

ADVANCE GUARD ARRIVES IN ADA FOR CONFERENCE

Cubberley and Corson Slated for Principal Addresses Tonight.

FIRST DELEGATION HERE

Busy Session Expected During Three days of Assembly of Teachers.

Before the doors of the assembly hall of East Central are opened tonight for the first general gathering of the East Central Oklahoma Education Association members, hundreds of visitors will have arrived in Ada.

Noon Frisco trains brought the first delegation of teachers from over this section of the state while later trains this afternoon and this evening are expected to bring even larger delegations to the educational conclave here.

The night Frisco, Santa Fe and a special Katy train from Coalgate will bring delegations of teachers to add to the horde already assembled here for the annual instruction to district teachers.

Dr. O. T. Sorson of Oxford, O., and E. P. Cubberley of Leland Stanford University of California, have already arrived in the city and will be lecturers at the opening of the general assembly. Charles McKenney of Ypsilanti, Michigan, president of the institution of that place, and M. A. Nash, state superintendent and Superintendent P. P. Claxton will arrive tomorrow for lectures during the assembly.

Attendance Expected Large.

While the attendance at the annual conference is expected to be cut down by the condition of roads over the district, those in charge expect the largest gathering at any teachers conference ever held here.

General and departmental assemblies will be held during the three days of the conference, Saturday bringing the final touch to the success of the conference.

Important problems in the instruction of students in the classroom with nationally known instructors bringing new light to educational problems effecting schools of this section of the state.

E. C. Wilson, in charge, stated today that every facility had been arranged for during the three days of the conference. Sufficient homes have been secured to house the visitors and feeding accommodations have also been assured. Cars have been volunteered for use in conveying teachers to and from the College building.

While teachers conferences are being held in other sections of the state, sponsors of the assembly here, feel the more important educators have been secured for lectures here than at any institution in the state.

Dr. Corson spoke at the student assembly this morning.

DAILY PRODUCTION OF OIL IN U. S. ON DECREASE FOR WEEK

(By the Associated Press)

NEW YORK; Nov. 8.—The daily average gross crude oil production in the United States decreased 10,400 barrels for the week ended November 3, totaling 2,255,850 barrels, according to the weekly summary of the American Petroleum Institute.

The daily average production east of the Rocky mountains was 1,470,450 barrels, an increase of 5,550 barrels. California production was 785,400, a decrease of 15,000.

Oklahoma showed a daily average production of 392,200, a decrease of 1,500.

ENGINEERS AND FIREMEN ON VIRGINIAN RAILROAD STRIKE

(By the Associated Press)

ROANOKE, Va., Nov. 8.—Engineers and firemen on the Virginian railway walked out this morning at 6 o'clock in protest against the discharge of several of their number a month ago.

General Manager Birchfield declared he has sufficient men to move all trains from this city.

The strike was general along the line, despite instructions from the railroad labor board that action be delayed until November 14.

MAJOR TELLS OF RED CROSS NEED

Activities of Women Expected to be Big Factor in Drive Success.

Preparatory steps toward the official launching of the Pontotoc county Red Cross and Charities drive here Sunday, November 11 were further aided through the representation of Major Arturo Mudd, an intelligence Corps officer assigned by the government for Red Cross work.

Major Mudd appeared before a call meeting of the chamber of commerce and at the assembly of the East Central College this morning. His remarks were confined to reminding of the debt of gratitude due the disabled veterans of the World war.

Major Mudd stressed the conditions in the hospitals caring for wounded and disabled veterans, declaring the efforts of the government alone is not sufficient to bring the proper care to the buddies in the hospitals. Major Mudd stressed conditions at a Little Rock hospital where the attention of outside workers proved a valuable aid to the patients. The major urged that citizens fail not in their debt to the greater heroes of peace, who have been bedridden for the five years following the close of the war.

While other plans are working into harmony for the official opening of the drive, the importance of the Ladies Auxiliary to the Chamber of Commerce is being felt. Their assistance and co-operation in the drive will be one of the new features of their activities since the recent formation of the organization.

A complete canvass of the residential section of the city will be conducted by the Ladies Auxiliary of the Chamber of Commerce, according to Mrs. C. A. Galbreath, president. Mrs. Galbreath announced today that the organizations would be divided into teams and every section of the residential part of the city would be canvassed.

Langford Shaw and Marshall Harris, in charge of the drive here, maintain that all plans are set for the official launching of the drive in Pontotoc county.

Major Mudd of Fort Sill explained to several business men and women at the Chamber of Commerce rooms this morning the need for funds for the Red Cross. He went into detail of the ways the money is used and expressed the belief that Mrs. Orville Sneed, local executive, is doing the almost miraculous, a great work with almost no money.

The work of the Red Cross with the disabled veterans of the war was praised. Major Mudd said the government could not do this essential work and explained his reason.

BANDITS HOLD UP KANSAS TOWN TO ROB STATE BANK

Robbers Stationed on Street Corners While Safe of Bank is Looted.

MANY SHOTS FIRED

State Troops Called Out to Guard Roads Against Bandit Passage.

(By the Associated Press) OGDEN, Kans., Nov. 8.—Holding the townspersons here at bay from 2 to 4 o'clock this morning, bandits blew the safe of the Ogden state bank and escaped with an undetermined amount of loot. Their plunder included Liberty bonds and other valuables. The bandit gang was composed of, from eight to 10 men. Before the robbery all telephone and telegraph wire leading into the town were cut.

The bandits posted guards at the principal corners of the town and several of them entered the bank and began working on the vault. The first blast aroused a number of residents some of whom ventured down the main street and were stopped by bullets from the guards. Joe Kennitz, town marshal, passed one of the guards in the darkness before he was detected. Two of the bandits opened fire on him and the marshal sought shelter behind a large tree from which point of vantage he returned the fire with his revolver until his ammunition was exhausted. The tree was riddled with buck shot from the guns of the bandits. When ever a resident made his appearance or a light appeared in any of the nearby residences, shots were fired in that direction.

Joe Boller, who lives on the edge of the village, circled the town with his car and drove eight miles to a rural telephone station where he notified officers at Junction City and Manhattan.

Ray McChesney, cashier of the bank, estimated the loss at $2,000 in cash and an undetermined amount of Liberty bonds and securities.

SIMMONS BRANDS EVAN'S SILENCE

Declares Imperial Wizard Must Come Out in Open to Defend Klan.

ATLANTA, Nov. 8.—William Joseph Simmons, emperor of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, today issued a signed statement in which he hurled a challenge at Dr. H. W. Evans, imperial wizard of the organization, too "come out into the open and give the public the facts" in connection with the shooting to death of Capt. W. S. Coburn by Philip E. Fox, publicity agent of the Klan here Monday afternoon.

"If I had been imperial wizard of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan and my publicity director had committed such a flagrant outrageous murder," Simmons stated, "you can bet your last dollar that I would not be in hiding in some other city away from headquarters where I could not be seen by representatives of the press or members of the Klan who are justly entitled to any information available on the subject and would be attempting to prove beyond all doubt whatever that I had no connection with the murder and that my associates nor myself had in no way inspired this deed on the part of Mr. Fox who is publicity director for Mr. Evans."

I am astounded that Dr. Evans remains in hiding at a critical time like this and that the newspaper men and Klansmen are unable to find any responsible head at the palace headquarters willing to meet those entitled to this," the statement continued.

KLANSMEN TO CELEBRATE VICTORY OVER ELECTION

(By the Associated Press) YOUNGSTOWN, O., Nov. 8.—Klan members numbering "more than 100,000" from Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Ohio will gather here Saturday to celebrate the biggest victory won by the Klan north of the Mason and Dixon line. Col. Watkins, spokesman for the Klan announced today. Colonel Watkins denied, however, that a delegation from the Atlanta headquarters of the Klan will be present. The victory is the election of Charles Scheible, Klan candidate for mayor according to information in Klan circles here.

Autos Force Street Cars To Abandon

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 8.—Competition of motor cars with the street car system circulated in the decision of the company to ask permission of the state corporation commission to abandon its tracks within the city limits, it was announced today by John Shartel, president of the company.

Mr. Shartel said the company would continue the operation of its interurban lines. He said that attorneys for the company would press the matter before the commission in an effort to obtain a speedy decision.

"There is no alternative," Mr. Shartel declared, explaining that the revenues of the company have fallen far below operating expenses largely on account of the increasing number of automobiles in the city. There are about 30,000 motor cars here.

With the completion of reading of depositions of thirteen witnesses on the stand, the suit of E. J. Coyle et al vs. Charles E. Schaff, receiver for the M. K. & T. railroad for damages to the extent of $500,000 moved another step toward a final judgment in the fourth day of its hearing in district civil court before Judge J. W. Bolen.

For three days lawyers have jugged the points of this important civil matter to the jury over a string of written depositions of witnesses bearing information relative to the firing of the compress in Oklahoma City on March 29, 1921 and the destruction of 8,500 bales of cotton. The fire is alleged to have been caused from the flying sparks of a Katy engine.

Eleven depositions were read to the jury by the attorneys for the plaintiff and the reading of depositions for the defendants was started late yesterday afternoon. The testimony of Shephy Bu-knight was taken on the stand and the depositions of two other defense witnesses had been read this morning.

Court room crowds of parties interested in the case has been dwindling constantly and only a handful of interested parties were present this morning.

The reading of depositions of the defendants is expected to reach into Friday with a possibility of the case lasting into next week.

Man Reported Dead in War Asks Post of Legion for Aid

(By the Associated Press)

FRESNO, Calif., Nov. 8.—Frank Pira, "killed in action" in France five years ago, and for whom "taps" has been sounded at four memorial day exercises at Madera near here, has appealed to S. B. Hern, commander of the Madera post of the American Legion for aid in recovering his citizenship and establishing himself on the army records as a living man.

Pira declared that he had been denied permission to rejoin his company in France because he was reported dead and that he refused his $10,000 life insurance while visiting his parents in Italy.

Woman Dies As Result of Burns From Fire

(By the Associated Press)

BLACKWELL, Okla., Nov. 8.—Mrs. E. L. Worley, 73, died today at her home eight miles from here as a result of burns sustained yesterday. Mrs. Worley was working in her kitchen when her clothing caught fire in some manner and she was fatally burned before her husband could reach her and extinguish the flames.

WALTON, ACCOMPANIED BY WIFE, ENTERS SENATE CHAMBER WHEN CHARGES ARE BROUGHT TO TRIAL

Governor Asks Balconies be Opened for Visit of Commoners; Federal Step is Checked.

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 8.—Gov. J. C. Walton went trial at 1:29 p. m. today before the state senate on 22 impeachment articles charging wilful neglect of duty, incompetency and offences involving moral turpitude.

The suspended executive walked into the senate court chamber with Mrs. Walton on his arm and took his seat at defense counsel's table for the first time since last Friday. Mrs. Walton sat by his side.

Governor Walton took the floor immediately after court opened and requested that the galleries be thrown open and that the attendance be not restricted to those holding passes for the day.

The house board of managers took up first the second article of the impeachment bill charging that T. P. Edwards, the governor's personal chauffeur, was on the pay roll of the state health department. C. C. Childers, state auditor, was the first witness placed on the stand.

DEFENSE STARTS ACTION IN CASE

Defense Depositions Start Off Fourth Day of Hearing in Compress Suit.

With the completion of reading of depositions of thirteen witnesses on the stand, the suit of E. J. Coyle et al vs. Charles E. Schaff, receiver for the M. K. & T. railroad for damages to the extent of $500,000 moved another step toward a final judgment in the fourth day of its hearing in district civil court before Judge J. W. Bolen.

For three days lawyers have jugged the points of this important civil matter to the jury over a string of written depositions of witnesses bearing information relative to the firing of the compress in Oklahoma City on March 29, 1921 and the destruction of 8,500 bales of cotton. The fire is alleged to have been caused from the flying sparks of a Katy engine.

Eleven depositions were read to the jury by the attorneys for the plaintiff and the reading of depositions for the defendants was started late yesterday afternoon. The testimony of Shephy Bu-knight was taken on the stand and the depositions of two other defense witnesses had been read this morning.

Court, however, left the way open for another ruling on the petition when he granted the governor a new hearing on a date yet to be set. An appeal to the United States supreme court will be taken if the action finally is denied, the executive's counsel indicated.

While proceedings were being held at Lawton Governor Walton appeared before the senate court through his counsel and entered a plea of not guilty, at the same time making a sweeping denial of the impeachment allegations.

Reading of his lengthy denial which the court dispensed with late yesterday, will be resumed today and the actual trial open at 1:30 and the introduction of evidence begun.

Court Winds Up Work

The senate impeachment court began winding up today the last details preparatory to the actual opening of the trial at 1:30 p. m., inasmuch as the entire 30,000 word response of the executive to the impeachment articles was printed in the senate journal this morning, further reading of the response was abandoned. Five of the 22 answers were read yesterday.

The house board of managers in their reply to the governor's response denied every allegation in the response but their reply did not go into detail, declaring the 117 page executive response was too lengthy to be studied minutely on such short time before the actual trial.

The house managers intend to introduce all testimony on every one of the 22 impeachment charges before asking a vote on any of the articles. Chairman Disney informed the court in response to an inquiry from Governor Walton's counsel.

MISSOURI NEXT AS SOONER BAIT

With Dope Opposing Them
Oklahoma Faces Tigers
Saturday.

(By the Associated Press)

NORMAN, Nov. 8.—(Special)—Although beaten by a margin of four points by the University of Kansas, the Sooners are far from beaten in spirit and dived into their work of preparation for the Missouri Tigers Monday afternoon with vim and pep equal to any witnessed in Owen field this season.

The Sooners feel that the Jayhawk contest was a superb example of excellent football from both teams viewpoint. What ever regret they feel is covered with the idea prevalent of "what might have happened" since the Sooners were five times within the Kansas danger zone and the Hawks scored on their only opportunity.

Scouts from the Missouri-Kansas Aggies game report that 4 to 2 contest was a mud battle punctuated with more than a dozen fumbles and blocked kicks and that neither the Tigers nor the Aggies showed much football. The Tigers have the dope on the Sooners from several sources but Bennie's athletes are not worried about the dope.

Missouri tied Nebraska 7 to 7, beat the Kansas Aggies and the Aggies tied Kansas while Kansas defeated the Sooners and Oklahoma lost to Nebraska 24 to 0. The Sooners emerged from the Hawker contest without a blemish other than Captain Hammert's many times broken nose. Hammert had it broken again but that does not bother him any more.

Owen gave his first squad a rest from scrimmage Monday but sent them through their paces with a stiff signal drill. The second string did not fair so easily and were given more than two hours of heavy scrimmage against Norman high school and the freshmen.

Missouri will meet another aerial offense from the Sooners this year.

Oklahoma's completion of nine passes for 1166 yards Saturday on a field standing in water in many places, is believed to indicate one of the greatest passing teams Owen has ever developed but to go with it the Sooners this year are a great line smashing team as the Oklahoma Aggi game proved.

Without a hospital list, with experience of four major games behind them, Oklahoma should face Missouri Saturday with her most powerful front of the season and despite dope, the Sooners were never more confident of victory over their Bengal neighbors in their lives.

Past results, Oklahoma-Missouri football games.

JACKIE COOGAN COMING
IN GREAT CIRCUS FILM

Jackie Coogan and a great circus are coming to town. Jackie will realize the dream of nearly every boy—young as six or old as sixty—and will be the star of a glittering, gorgeous, mammoth presentation of the world's most marvelous wonders. Though he will be seen first as a very humble and a very forlorn young lad selling ice cream, lemonade and peanuts to occupants of the "big top" of Day's greatest show on earth.

Sol Lesser presents Jackie in this successor to the same producer's presentation of "Oliver Twist," and the name of the lavish picture which will be shown at the McSwain Theatre on Friday is "Circus Days." It is a very free and liberal transcription for the screen taken from James Otis ever-popular story for boys (and girls, too) "Toby Tyler," which story has been current and popular for two generations and bids fair to endure unto the classic age. Harry Weil and Director Eddie Cline are responsible for the adaptation of "Toby Tyler" and a cast of extraordinary excellence will be seen in the leading roles.

Barbara Tenant will be seen as Toby's harassed mother; Claire McDowell will appear as Martha, the somewhat sour aunt of the hero; Russell Simpson takes the part of Uncle Eben Holt; Cesare Gravini, who made a big hit with his performance of the role of the aged violinist with Jackie in "Daddy," will portray another endearing role, that of clown; Peaches Jackson will be adorable as the tiny equestrienne star of the big show; Sam De Grasse assumes the role of the harsh Mr. Lord, owner of the circus concession; De Witt Jennings is Mr. Daly, the shrewd and none too kindly owner of the show and Nellie Lane and William Barlow will appear respectively as they really are, the fattest woman and the leanest man in the world.

An entire circus equipment was assembled for the making of this most pretentious and costly of any production in which the genius of little Jackie has yet shown.

Major Tells of Red Cross Needs

sons. He pointed out in particular the conditions of the mentally diseased patients in the hospital at Little Rock. There scores of physically able men are confined in cages, their mind having been deranged from shell shock or other causes during the war. These men are being nursed back to health as well as it can be done.

These unfortunate men must be given particular attention of normal beings, he said. They must be permitted to enjoy the same kind of things normal human beings enjoy if their condition is to improve. Girls go out from Little Rock, under the supervision and direction of the Red Cross officials, dance with the men, accompany them on hiking and entertain them. These things, the Major says, has more effect upon the health than any other things that can be done. It is a kind of work the government cannot do, however, and the Red Cross is the only means of giving this attention.

Similar work is done for those bodily diseased, with tuberculosis and other diseases some of which may be cured and some may not.

One poor fellow in the hospital was doing well and apparently on the road to recovery. The attendants noticed that he suddenly became worse. They could not account for the change except some mental shock. The Red Cross workers got his confidence and learned that someone had written him his wife was not acting right at home. He had been advised that his parents knew nothing of the matter and he did not know where to turn. As a result he was getting worse. The Red Cross investigated the matter, confidentially, and learned there was nothing to the report. This is a sample of the kind of work the Red Cross workers are doing. The incidents are not generally known and cannot be made public.

M. F. Manville told of one incident here in Ada. It took ten hours time and an expenditure of

BUFFALO FLY PLAYS HAVOC WITH CATTLE

SYDNEY, N. S. W. Nov. 7.—Australian cattlemen are deeply concerned over the reports that a pest known as the buffalo fly has been ravaging many herds. The pest is similar to a fly which causes extensive losses among herds in India, Africa and the East Indies, and it is asserted that the damage will exceed that caused by the dreaded tick in Queensland, and northern New South Wales unless prompt action is taken to check it.

Sir George Knibbs, director of the Institute of Science and Industry, has made a cursory inquiry into the matter. He stated that the pest is becoming serious in the northern territory and will spread to other parts of Australia unless preventive measures are taken immediately. He added that it might become more serious than the tick which has already reached New South Wales, Western Australia and Queensland, from the northern territory. The result would be an economic loss that would run into millions of pounds sterling, and years would be required to eradicate the flies.

Remington tests showed that powder varies batch by batch—even the same kind and weight. A given weight of the same kind of powder doesn't always give the same results. So in Game Loads Remington adjusts the amount of powder to give exactly the right shooting quality for the specific game. Powder varies—Remington Game Loads do not.

Take just one box of Remington Game Loads out and use them. Notice how they shoot in your gun.

And remember this: If you go back to the store next week or next month—or go to any store in a different town—and get another box of the same kind of Remington Game Load, the shells will perform exactly the same.

Walton, Accompanied by Wife, Enters Senate Chamber for Trial

The executive's counsel asked if it would be advisable to summon any of the defense witnesses before next Tuesday. Chairman Disney responded that he hardly believed the prosecution would finish before then and that Tuesday would be early enough for the executive's counsel to plan to bring in their witnesses.

The impeachment court will be in session on November 12, it was decided. Since Armistice Day is to be widely observed the court will recess one hour at 11 o'clock.

In the event the United States district court continues its refusal to stop the impeachment trial the case will be taken direct to the United States supreme court, counsel for the executive said today.

JONES PRIZE RING ROMANCE REVELS IN EXCITEMENT

A human chain formed the escape from dishonor for the comely heroine of "Big Dan," Charles Jones' latest William Fox production, which is to be shown at the American Theatre Friday and Saturday.

Trapped in "Cyclone's" room, Dora, the distressed girl, is aided by a dozen youths who climb to the window and, catching each other's ankle with their hands, form a ladder over which she climbs to the ground.

This is only one of the many alarming situations of this photoplay of the prize ring. Saturated with a great variety of punch scenes, the story, as produced from Fred and Fanny Hatton's original script, shows a complete and honest picture of the features that mark the life of a prize fighter.

Charles Jones, who for many years has been intimate with every phase of sport, is adapted particularly to the role of a fighter. His characterization of Big Dan was pronounced perfect by many critics in cities where the production has already been shown.

Forming an adequate histrionic support for the popular star are Marion Nixon, Trilby Clark, Ben Hendricks, Jackie Gadsdon, Charles Coleman, Jack Herrick, Harry Lockley, Mattie Peters, Harry Lonsdale and Monty Collins.

The concealed lock of an English inventor's safe is operated by wires vibration in unison with a tuning fork causing electromagnets to move the bolts.

WINNETKA GETS SCHOOL RESULTS

Individual Instruction Method Proving Success in Illinois Town.

(By the Associated Press)

WINNETKA, Ill., Nov. 7.—Pupils don't "fail" any more in the public schools of Winnetka. It is not that these school children are different, but because the Winnetka Board of Education has "thrown off the shackles of the old class lock-step system" and has provided every child with individual instruction according to Carleton W. Washburne, superintendent of schools.

Reputed to be the first complete example of individual instruction in public schools, Winnetka's experiment already has gained wide attention. "Last year alone," Mr. Washburne said, "the Winnetka schools were visited by hundreds of visitors from all parts of the United States and from Australia, New Zealand, Japan, Sweden, England and Belgium.

"This widespread interest," the superintendent continued, "shows a general awakening to the evils of class lock-step and to the need for individual instruction in the public schools of Winnetka. While our work is still crude in many ways, we have demonstrated beyond question that it is possible for a public school system to give individual instruction and individual promotions without changing the size of classes and increasing the number of teachers.

"The general value of individual instruction already has been demonstrated by Burk at the San Francisco State Teachers' College, Sutherland of the Los Angeles Public Schools, by Horn in Iowa, and by Courtis in Detroit. Jessie MacKinder in London has shown the possibility of putting individual instruction in large city-school classes, even with five and six-year old children.

"All of these experiments have shown that individual instruction eliminates failures and grade repetition, that it stimulates children's interest in school, that it strengthens their initiative, sense of responsibility and self-expressive activities more than is possible under the old class lock-step system."

The Winnetka Public Schools are operated upon an individual system which permits each child to progress at his own natural rate, not forced too rapidly by those who are quicker, nor held back by those who are slower. Promotion is by subjects. A child may be promoted in reading at one time, for instance, and in arithmetic at quite another. Promotion does not necessarily involve a change of rooms. Pupils in the same room may be doing two or even three grades of work.

Doctor Lewis admits that the only reason he asks a woman to hold out her tongue is that he may have time to write the prescription.

One nice thing about being honest is that you are not bothered too much with competition.

It would not be so bad if women quit talking after they told all they knew.

Most of the fun we have ceases to be so when we find out how expensive it is.

If there is something wrong with business blame the war or prohibition—not yourself.

New South Wales Strikers Lose $2,800.00 in 90 Days

By the Associated Press

SYDNEY, N. S.—Strikes cost the workers of New South Wales $2,813,100 in wages during the three months ending June 30, according to state officials.

The strike fever seemed to have affected the mother state mainly, for of the 48 industrial disputes in Australia, involving more than 20,000 workers directly and indirectly, there were only three serious strikes in Victoria, five in Queensland, and one in South Australia. Western Australia and Tasmania appear to have enjoyed perfect peace industrially, as not one dispute was reported from either of these districts.

At a recent function here delegates to the conference of the Employers' Federation of Australia issued a direct invitation to the employees to discuss their differences, not behind the barricades of the Arbitration court, but over a friendly table.

The W. C. T. U. met with Mrs. T. E. Brents Wednesday afternoon. Devotional was led by Mrs. R. E. L. Ford. The scripture lesson was the 67th Psalm, she gave a beautiful word picture to us of how our praises to God was always returned to us in showers of blessings. Mrs. Crowder read our State President's letter to the W. C. T. U., impressing more firmly on our mind's that great and outstanding work for the Union is the united effort to reach others.

During our special hour we were honored by the presence of Mayor Fisher, Chief Police Adair and Mr. Strickland—each made a short talk on law enforcement and stressed the importance of cooperation of all which is so necessary in building up a God fearing and peace loving State.

A delicious salad course was served by the hostess who drank to the health of our Mayor from Birds Mill water, after which we were adjourned.—REPORTER.

COTTON

With the return of sunshine cotton has begun to come in again although slowly. Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock the season's receipts at the county scales totaled 1,432 and 422 round bales had been ginned. Counting the latter as half bales the total for the season stands at 1,654.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

YEA, YEA, AND NAY, NAY: Let your communication be, Yea, yea; Nay, nay: for whatsoever is more than these commeth of evil.—Matthew 5:37.

A well known American writer, who spent some little time in Europe recently, says in an article in a current magazine that he is of the opinion that the reason the Bavarians are cutting so many didoes and making such alarming threats is chargeable to the free flowing beer that has made Bavaria the wettest spot on earth. He says that generation after generation has been so thoroughly steeped in beer that the average brain is so badly befogged that clear thinking and a ready understanding of facts is out of the question, hence by the time one reality is comprehended something else has come along and a new situation developed. This would place the Bavarians a few jumps behind events as they move in these days, but as they fondly imagine they are the most cultured people on earth they are satisfied with themselves and blame the uncultured barbarians of the rest of the world for all that does not go right.

No doubt people learned to doubt the veracity of newspapers in years gone by because it was then the custom of most editors to lambast their competitors and charge them with wilfully lying about everything that came up. It was considered good form to keep up a continual warfare with one's competitors. However, since the average personnel of the fraternity has improved the newspaper men stopped that practice and have also adopted the policy of stressing proved facts and giving little attention to gossip or rumors. In these days when one hears some fellow denouncing the press it is a safe bet that it has told some unpalatable truth about him or else has refused to be a cat's paw for some personal enterprise the other fellow was trying to put across.

It is said that more than $1,000,000,000 is invested in cotton mills in the South and more mills are coming in all the time. The time will come when most of the cotton goods consumed in the United States will be manufactured amid the cotton fields and a large part of the freight charges thus eliminated. In this connection the rapid increase in the use of electricity is playing a part. Since the world learned to transmit power by means of wires the power problem has been solved to a considerable extent. This has also had the effect of an extended use of water power in generating current and there is a huge volume of this water power not yet utilized.

One would naturally think that if conscience would be a guide in any matter it would certainly be in handling the affairs of the veterans' bureau. No one would suggest that the disabled service man are not entitled to the very best the government could do for them, but the senate investigation indicates that grafters got in some good work in connection with the management of the bureau whereby they lined their pockets well. It is too bad that such crooks cannot be sentenced to face a firing squad composed of disabled veterans.

The Republican party leaders are worrying about the farmer vote next year. It is going to be hard to explain why the farmer has to pay more for everything he buys than he did some years ago, while getting no more for his products than in those days. Prices on most of the necessities the farmer must have, increased since the Republican tariff law was enacted, hence the widening between the selling price of farm products and buying price of what he must have.

Kentucky, which wandered from the Democratic fold four years ago and elected a Republican governor, has seen the error of her ways and has come back in her first love, the Democratic party. Her next governor is to be a Democrat. Maryland likewise adheres to her allegiance to the party by re-electing a Democrat.

Apparently the action of Federal Judge Cottrell in refusing to assume jurisdiction in the Walton case puts an end to the efforts of the governor to escape trial. Nothing remains but to face the music.

Governor Trapp has managed to cut 26 persons from the payroll of the state department of health and other departments are being looked into. Good work so far and if kept up will stop a big leak in the treasury. It is to be hoped that the time is at hand when a job in a state department will not be a soft snap.

The News extends a hearty welcome to the visiting teachers. We have come to look forward with great pleasure to these annual gatherings from all over the East Central district. We have many personal friends among the number as well as a friendly feeling for all. There has been a great change for the better in the personnel of the teaching fraternity in this part of the state within recent years and we rejoice that this is true.

Let a NEWS WANT AD get it for you.

The World of Poincaré.

(Tulsa Tribune)
A young American whose home is in Mississippi has just returned from the famine area of Russia, where he spent the last two years preceding the last two. On the way home this time he stopped off at Berlin, Paris, London and one or two minor capitals in eastern Europe. He has had an unusually good opportunity to discern the beatings of the world's pulse.

This young man writes a letter to a friend on the Tribune staff. He expresses opinions which are both interesting and worth while. They represent the views of a trained observer, for the writer was journalist and student at home in America before the war. And he has been face to face with the real, common, garden-variety folks in Europe for several years, getting a daily "close-up" on life as it is, instead of touching only through an interpreter's spectacles.

Referring to the ascendancy of force and suspicion as the tools of present-day diplomacy in Europe his letter reads:

Children's fancies have no place in the world of Poincaré—What a crime it all is. For people will respond to kindness and to unselfishness and to loving service. If Wilson only had been a Lincoln, with an understanding of human nature, I think we might have had a chance to see something of that spirit in the settlements following the Peace Treaty. But that chance was gone long ago.

Tired and uninspired statesmen, and the people with them, have settled back into the old grooves of jealousy, hatred, rivalry, and revenge. Faith of people in leaders, in principles, in each other has sunk to the vanishing point. Especially in Russia and Germany. And especially in Russia do you miss what one finds in America and even in England, (I saw it at Albert Hall when 10,000 people went wild at a violin concert by Fritz Kreisler) spontaneous delight, crowds of people purely enjoying themselves.

When one realizes that all this wounding of the spirit of people is the result of militant force, unregarded of the common man's blood, it makes one want to devote his life to militant pacifism. I certainly am with Borah for the outlawing of war, but I am not sure that being in his company is the best way of fighting against the next war.

The country in all the world which counts the most for peace right now is Britain; and the one that is counting most heavily for the next war is France. It is a bitter fight in Europe between the kind of people who are working for peace and those who think of nothing but the old instruments of force. It is such a pity that we do not give our active moral support to the forces of peace. And that I mean going in to the League of Nations, since that is one of the principal agencies for peace in Europe.

Of course the league is weak and a disappointment. Nobody ever said it would be anything else without us in it, at first. BUT ONE OF THESE DAYS IT MAY BE JUST STRONG ENOUGH TO AVERT A WAR IN WHICH A MILLION PEOPLE WILL LOSE THEIR LIVES.

IT MIGHT FURNISH JUST THE LITTLE EXTRA GRAIN OF INFLUENCE TO TIP THE SCALES OF FATE IN THE RIGHT DIRECTION.

IT IS A FORCE FOR PEACE.

IT IS NOT A SUPER-GOVERNMENT.

And what harm can come to us from being in it I can't see.

Who can say but that the influence of The League already has provided the grain of influence to avert such a war, in the silly, tempestuous quarrel between Mussolini and Greece?

And irrespective of The League as a safeguard against war, the world witnesses tangle evidence again only last week that international friendship thrives on humanitarian service and aid. When the American ambassador to Japan sailed from Yokohama for this country, he received a demonstration unparalleled in Japan's history.

His steamer was converted into a huge conservatory of flowers, sent from all over Japan as evidence of gratitude for America's help. It was a popular tribute from the Japanese people to the official representative of another people who hastened to play the role of a friend in Nippon's hour of need.

The United States has done its part magnificently in humanitarian projects all over the world since the war. American prestige with foreign people is great. It is a pity that we do not employ that prestige more actively in standing with Great Britain to check the gathering war-clouds in Europe.

English Shun Poor Shoes

LONDON.—London stores will no longer exhibit cheap, shoddy and ill-fitting shoes; in their stead will be found the latest perfectly modelled lasts of Paris.

The shoe manufacturers of England are generally agreed that the public avoid the shops that sell fitting, shoddy footwear and would rather pay more money for shoes that wear well without causing physical disabilities.

The result of the action of many manufacturers in putting cheap shoes on the market to meet the reduced spending power of the public, is that there are huge stocks of these shoes on hand which it is impossible to sell.

FARM CROP GAIN AS ACRES DROP

Greater Production on Less Acreage is Report of Crops in Country.

(By the Associated Press)

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 8.—Agricultural production in the United States during the last decade has increased, although the number of acres in agriculture has declined, according to statistics compiled by the Institute for Research in Land Economics and Public Utilities, with headquarters here.

The study indicates a return of agriculture to normal conditions by the steady increase in population, and includes a comparison of the increase in population with the interest in land devoted to agriculture.

The farm area increased only approximately nine percent from 1910 to 1920, and most of this was in the semi-arid states, the summary declares. "There were fewer acres in farms in 1920 than in 1910 in many of the states in the corn belt and in virtually all the states east of the Mississippi.

Part of this decrease is accounted for by errors in former enumeration, and in the south by failure to include woodland as a part of the farm area. The growth of cities, development of factories, industries, mining and the increase in highways and railroads account for the remaining decrease.

More significant is the permanent reversion of farm land to forest and brush because it was not fit for agriculture," the summary continues. "Throughout the eastern section, land has gone back to more economical use. The last census reveals an increase of 5.5 percent in area of improved land but an increase of 36 percent in unimproved land. The increase in unimproved land is almost equal in acres to the increase in all farm land. The significant fact is that production has maintained and even increased by more intensive utilization of the better lands less intensive use of poorer lands."

When one realizes that all this wounding of the spirit of people is the result of militant force, unregarded of the common man's blood, it makes one want to devote his life to militant pacifism. I certainly am with Borah for the outlawing of war, but I am not sure that being in his company is the best way of fighting against the next war.

DRINK WATER TO HELP WASH OUT KIDNEY POISON

If Your Back Hurts or Bladder
Bothers You, Begin
Taking Salts.

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which helps to remove the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of good water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they are no longer a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, which everyone should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this; also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

LARGE NUMBERS TAUGHT IN MISSIONARY SCHOOL

CHICAGO, Nov. 7.—Christian education is being given 151,370 native pupils in 3,790 schools in foreign lands under the direction of the board of foreign missions of the Methodist Episcopal church, according to a report made public here from a survey just completed by Eric M. North, education secretary of the denomination. Professors and teachers in the schools number 6,868, the report said.

The schools vary in type according to the needs of the locality. A large proportion are elementary schools, next in number are secondary and others are high schools, colleges, industrial and vocational institutes, medical schools and seminaries.

"In many mission fields, as in Africa," the report says, "the standard of living is so low that vocational education is necessary to provide means of earning a livelihood for the converts so they can lead Christian lives independent of the heathen superstitions about them. This involves the task of building the foundations for an entire civilization, and because of the excellent results obtained, has made American mission stations desirable to colonial governments. Many of the schools receive annual and special grants from the governments, and are rated high in educational status by the ministers of education."

The truth about Bran!

NOW'S the time you should know the truth—AND THE WHOLE TRUTH!

Because, if you are in the clutches of constipation, real relief will come only through eating bran that is ALL BRAN!

Kellogg's Bran is ALL BRAN—that is why it is recommended by physicians; that is why it is GUARANTEED; that is why it gives positive, permanent relief! And, Kellogg's Bran, being cooked and krumbled, is as delicious as it is beneficial! Remember that!

Foods with 25 or 50 per cent bran will give you 25 or 50 per cent relief, because they have only 25 or 50 per cent of the bulk or "roughage" of ALL BRAN—a necessity to secure permanent relief! It is the "bulk" of Kellogg's BRAN that eliminates constipation!

Don't stop half-way in your efforts to fight constipation. Get GUARANTEED RELIEF that will come to you through eating Kellogg's Bran, because it is ALL BRAN—because being ALL BRAN it is 100 per cent efficient!

Two tablespoonfuls daily for mild cases! As much with each meal if conditions are chronic! You'll enjoy Kellogg's Bran as a cereal or for making delicious bran muffins, bread, etc.

THE BERRY PATCH

By FANNY RICHARDSON

© 1923, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.
THE AGE of eighteen one should be blissfully happy, even in a stuffy train—especially when one is the proud possessor of two boxes of chocolates, roses and four magazines. But Isabell's usually smiling mouth was pucker'd into an unhappy little twist. The ticket she had put in her glove read "Lesterville," where, isolate' from suitors, theaters, dances and good times, she was expected to spend an eventless vacation away from the city with her aunt, who was to strictly see to it that she did nothing else but eat good food, fresh from the farm, and rest.

Perfectly ridiculous, wasn't it, that such an attractive girl as Isabell, with absolutely nothing the matter with her, should be made to spend her vacation in such a place? Her aunt had said there were no young people in the neighborhood. Isabell laughed as she recollect'd. Who ever heard of a neighborhood without young people?

However, her aunt was true to her word. After Isabell had stayed four days in Lesterville she had not seen anyone her own age except the tawny-haired, freckle-faced farmhand, Isabell, craving companionship, thought the boy "better than nothing," and they spent many a half-hour together.

When Isabell had been a week in Lesterville she heard there was going to be a costume party in the village. Her freckle-faced friend told her of it. She began making plans for it, having made up her mind she was going...

Arriving conspicuously late at the party, there was nothing for them to do but watch the games which were in progress on lantern-decked lawns. A young man dressed as Captain Kidd, evidently their host, offered Isabell his place in a game of croquet. "But I don't know how," she had objected. Tom, at their host's suggestion, eagerly took his mallet and joined in the game.

"I'm sorry you don't play," said the host, "but there are six or seven other games you could join. They're dancing the Virginia Reel in the barn. Come, let's do that."

Smiling, Isabell took his arm. "It's quite a while since I've done it, but I'll try."

And a few moments later Isabell was "doing it." She little knew what a gay picture she made in her Egyptian costume, dancing in and out, clapping and bowing to her unknown escort, whose fiercely grotesque costume seemed to enhance the beauty of his little partner's outfit.

"Let's play It," said Captain Kidd, after the dancing was over.

Then followed period of explanations. In spite of the fact that Isabell knew very few of the games, she found her host more than eager to explain. He took her to this group and that group, introduced her, but never once let any of the other men be her partner.

Somebody tugged at her dress. It was Tom. "Hurry, we got to go now, or we'll get caught. The thing's most over!"

Dismayed, Isabell looked at her sandalless foot. "I can't, Tom, until he finds my sandal."

"We can't wait," he said. "Come with me now—easy, this way—so they won't notice."

It was ten o'clock, the day after the party. Isabell was getting ready to go blueberrying. In a sunbonnet, hardly to be recognized as the dazzling Egyptian princess of the night before, yet certainly as desirable, she was soon walking in a thicket of berry bushes. From time to time she wondered how she had been able, as she recalled last night's experiences, to get home ahead of her aunt, hustle under the bedclothes still in her costume, and wear the innocent expression she had worn when her aunt had opened her door to see if all was well.

For an hour Isabell picked, humming snatches of a gay little tune. Then there had been a slight rustling in the bushes, a scream from Isabell, and the berries had been scattered in a hundred directions. Then she had run and run. A young man was coming toward her. Instinctively he held out his arms and she ran right into them.

Absurd, isn't it, to try and work against fate? How hard Isabell's aunt had worked to keep her niece away from parties and excitement. And she had only to send her niece out to a blueberry patch where there wasn't supposed to be a soul around for miles, and a young man dropped right out of the clouds at her feet.

It was Captain Kidd who carried Isabell back to the road. He took a long time about it, going around a longer way than necessary. "You say you only saw his horns?" he asked.

"Yes. But I don't think I'll ever be able to go berrying again."

He looked down at the pale face. "He wouldn't hurt you. He probably ran faster than you did."

"When we get to the road, I'm going to give you your slipper."

"You have my slipper!" she cried. "Why? It's just like the Cinderella fairy tale, isn't it?"

"My, but we're taking a long time getting to the road. Why, you've taken me around the longest way. Naughty prince! Just for that, I'm going to make you carry me right up to the house. Auntie will have a fit!"

And Auntie did have a fit, but she might just as well have saved her strength.

Baseball's New Triple Treat
Man Is New George H. Ruth

Babe Ruth waiting out the pitch, singling and "murdering the ball" for a home run.

By NORMAN E. BROWN

Babe Ruth is giving the field a merry run for home run honors this season. But he isn't confining his efforts to leading the pack.

Ruth apparently has his heart set on doing more than that—He is aiming to lead the big leagues in all-around playing. Recognized mainly as a slugger supreme for the last few years, he has become one of the most versatile batters in either circuit. A veritable triple-threat man is the once ball murderer par excellence.

Ruth's triple-threat ability has been playing a more important part in the steady winning of the New York Yankees than his home run clouting. The opposition pitchers and players are awake to the fact that he can drive the ball over the wall when the right one comes but that he is just as dangerous when he isn't picking one to kill. He can beat out a bunt with alacrity or wait out a wobbling pitcher with the keen eye of a Jack Graney or a Donie Bush. In addition to this versatility at bat he has erased the belief that he is a slow man on the bases. He has held his own in stealing bases. His stealing record is better than the averages indicate when it is considered that many of the times he gets on base his long drives for extra bases or the circuit have eliminated any chance of or need for stealing.

While his wicked bat causes managers to order him passed purposefully, he has drawn many passes this season through his ability to pick the ones that are "just outside," high or low.

To this versatility must be added the fact that Ruth, for the first time since he climbed to fame, is putting his whole heart and soul into his play afiel'd, and the basci and even on the bench. There is no doubt but what Ruth is a valuable member of Huggins' board of strategy this year.

All in all Ruth is making a real bid for the honor of being the most valuable man to his club in the big show. The gentry who pick the Babe each fall might do worse than choose the Babe.

JOYFUL FAMILY REUNION

Because it is authentic in every detail, because it is masterfully handled by writer, director and company, and because it is made by a woman whose chiefest motive in making it was an unselfish one, the picture should be the most convincing preaching ever delivered on the subject, according to critics.

"Human Wreckage" is not a story of Wallace Reid's own life though it is his spirit which actuated the production of this, the greatest moral play ever conceived. The story itself was constructed, not for the purpose of reproducing the life of any individual, but was rather planned to put over so carefully as many salient truths as could be logically included in a compact film, without injuring its value as entertainment.

The play is entertaining—not in a light, frothy sort of way, to be sure, but in its power to absorb, to move, to teach. It has been found in observing popular reaction to the so-called film magazines, in which the realms of science and modern thought are pictorially explored, that people are most entertained when they see a picture from which they gather new information. On this principle, then, "Human Wreckage" should be extremely entertaining, for it does instruct. The facts which it presents have been gathered by experts in many lines of endeavor—Medical, political and social.

The cast includes Mrs. Wallace Reid, James Kirkwood, Bessie Love, George Hackathorne, Harry Northrup, Eric Mayne, Victory Bateman, Robert McKim, Caire McDowell, Lucille Rickson, Otto Hoffman, Philip Sleman and George Clark.

LIGHTNING RIDGE.

Estella Coulson, Louise White, Dollie Able and Fannie Evans were the guests of Edith Shook Sunday.

Mrs. Robert Davis who has been ill became worse and underwent an operation at Ada Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Dosson motored to Vanoss Sunday afternoon.

J. E. Pitts' brother John Vice of Mena, Arkansas who has been visiting Mrs. Pitts went home Tuesday a week ago. He reported the crops around Mena sorry.

Mrs. Tom Vandever and Mrs. John Shook visited Mrs. Davis Sunday.

Mr. Ray's brother and family visited Mr. Ray Sunday afternoon.

Sunday afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Martin attended a baptizing near Hart Number 2. Their little son, Newt, was baptized into the Missionary Baptist church of that place.

Mrs. Solomon spent the day Sunday with her son, Deb.

H. G. Coffey and Mr. Karnes attended the Saturday night services of the Freewill Baptist's Fifth Sunday meeting at Summers Chapel.

"Human Wreckage," Mrs. Reid's smashing denunciation of the dope evil, should do more than all the tons of printed matter, speeches, editorials and committees that have been brought forth since the question first became a live issue.

A. Coffey who has gone to Davis to pick cotton sent his son, Otis back to gather the crop at home.

DAIRY CONGRESS TO HOLD SESSION

Fines of America's Stock to be Assembled at Convention.

(By the Associated Press)

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Oct. 4.—A comprehensive cross-section of the dairy industry, the great branch of agriculture, will be shown in this city October 5, when the National Dairy show and World's Dairy congress convene.

Emphasis will be placed on the tremendous part the industry plays in national prosperity and welfare; on its economic importance in bringing $2,400,000,000 to the dairy farms of the country annually and a greater stability to agriculture, and on productive methods of still further increasing the industry's stability and prosperity.

The exposition will bring together more than 1,500 of the United States and Canada's finest dairy cattle; machinery and equipment for dairy farm and dairy factory valued at $3,000,000; 300 of the country's finest horses; the latest scientific facts and discoveries in the relation of milk and its products to human welfare, and scores of educational exhibits for the study of farmers in betterment of their farms.

Distinguished scientists and research specialists, delegates from 40 foreign countries, will deliver addresses dealing with improvement and greater efficiency in farm production, manufacture of dairy products, transportation and marketing. Another important phase taken up in detail will be the vital and essential part played by milk in the welfare of mankind.

Recent discoveries have established the fact that in milk are certain qualities which make it a necessary and complete food for humans. It is known to be especially essential for the young, in adequate development of both brain and body.

Among the delegates will be Dr. Hugh G. Cumming, League of Nations; Professors Sato and A. Mita, Hokkaido Imperial university, Japan; Senor F. S. Latour, Minister of Guatemala; Abdullah Entezan, secretary of the Persian legation at Washington; C. Holmes Dennis, Royal college for Science, Ireland; Haakon Issacsen, Royal Agricultural college, Norway; Robert Burri, director of the Lieberland Experiment station, Switzerland.

Four special trains will bring the delegates and visitors from Washington where the congress will be formally opened by President Coolidge.

A total of 1,329 dairy cattle entered at the exposition will show the highest perfection to which breeders and scientists have arrived in this country and Canada in seeking perfection of type and conformation for the economical production of milk. In the number will be several world's champions, blue ribbon winners from every state, splendid specimens of the five leading dairy breeds, Holstein, Ayrshire, Jersey, Guernsey and Brown Swiss, which will demonstrate to visitors what points should be sought in breeding for heavier production.

Every division of the exposition has been designed to inspire dairy farmers to practice more economical and resultful methods. Great emphasis will be placed on better breeding; its necessity is indicated by the average production of milk per cow in the United States is only a little more than 4,000 pounds a year, when it has been established there is seldom profit made with cows yielding less than 5,000 pounds a year.

Something like 20,000 original kinds of orchids are known to exist, and from each of them is many as 3,000 crossed varieties have been reared.
